SHOULD YOU SEND YOUR CHILD TO YMCA CAMP FULLER?

Yes, definitely! Why? Because kids return from camp with a new found sense of confidence and independence. They learn how to make friends and how to be a good friend in return. Kids leave camp feeling proud.

As a result of being with counselors who are positive role models, your camper will better understand how to discern right from wrong and handle the inevitable tough situations that life throws at them.

“I can’t control the wind, but I can adjust the sail.”

Camp Fuller is a tight knit community which encourages kids to be themselves, live with integrity and achieve their full potential.

CABIN LIFE

Each cabin group is a family with eight campers and two counselors. The counselors ensure that all are respected and involved. Staff members guide campers through cabin clean-up and group activities. Evenings are spent with the cabin group, or division (groups of cabins of the same age and sex) in a variety of exciting games, campfires and camp-wide events.

At the end of each day, campers enjoy one of the great traditions of Camp Fuller: a counselor-led “devotion” that covers daily reflections, personal values and future dreams. For example -

“If you were stranded on an island, who would you want to be there with?”

“What is a risk you would take if you knew you would never fail?”

“When was the last time you laughed so hard you nearly fell over?”

Fuller’s 4 divisions give kids a sense of belonging. This is their tribe. All first-year campers will be in either the Junior or Sherman divisions.

Campers may request having a friend in their cabin when they register. Requests must be mutual and of the same age. Large groups of requests must be split up to ensure a cohesive cabin.

SAFETY AT CAMP

Safety is a top priority at YMCA Camp Fuller. We take all the necessary precautions to protect campers from any injury and train our staff accordingly - although some minor injuries, such as bruises, blisters, bug bites and small cuts do occur.

DO CAMPERS MISS HOME?

It is natural and common to miss home sometimes. Overcoming it supports campers in building their self-esteem and developing a sense of independence. Our caring staff help campers see that it is possible to simultaneously miss home while enjoying their new friendships and experiences.

The staff will work with each individual child throughout their stay at camp. Fuller will keep you informed of any concerns they may have about their overall health & well-being.
